Negotiations regarding the Association Agreement were concluded before yesterday, Tuesday. The Head of Government gave a press conference to the European Commission in order to officially inform about this fact, accompanied by the Executive Vice-President of the European Commission, Maroš Maroš Šefčovič, and the Minister of Foreign Affairs, International Economic Cooperation and Telecommunications from San Marino, Luca Becari. The conference took place in a meeting in which Espot highlighted the key moment that Andorra is experiencing as a country by having the text of the Association Agreement, currently in its official English version, which will be published in full on Friday, April 26th.

Now, once the negotiations have been officially concluded, Espot's assistance in Brussels was used to present the final text to the committee, so that the process of translating the text into the official language of the Principality can then begin. However, the vice-president of the chamber underlined that the presentation of these texts - both the Andorran and the San Marino - «are actions that work in favor of the society and culture of the two countries», emphasizing all the work done because «during the negotiations we had time to talk with the administrations and their representatives».

Šefčovič, when asked about a schedule to follow, remarked that «the Agreement will be signed before New Year's Eve and then it will be passed to the European Parliament», since he also remarked that it must be taken into account that it is an election year in many European countries, in addition to the parliamentary elections that will take place very soon, which is why «today's deliberations are important. Now we have finished our tasks in order to finalize the negotiations».

Espot also took the opportunity to re-emphasize certain beneficial factors that the Agreement will bring to the Andorran population, since «our citizens will be able to participate in the European market». «After five months of work, we have a complete text in English that we have presented to society», said the head of government, without wasting the opportunity to assert that «our citizens have followed the Agreement very closely», referring to the two appointments that were organized by the Government in order to 'resolve doubts' regarding the text and the negotiations. Public events that opened the door to the cluster of questions and concerns with which Andorrans continue to have no answers.

In line with the highest concerns expressed by Andorra's possible accession to the European Union is the country's participation in the European financial market, a tangible worry that the head of the executive tried to alleviate by stating that «Andorra will be able to participate step by step in the European market taking into account the qualities and specifications of our environment». An action that Espot pointed out will be done by the vice-president of the commission: «The vice-president of the European Commission will come to our country to take part in this explanation». For this same reason, the representative declared that «we must understand the financial services protocol as a general framework. We must base ourselves on trust». Finally, the head of government insisted on the need to include the financial sector within the accession, although he defended that it must be done in a staggered manner so that they can «fit» with the financial system institutions of the European Union. ●
