The Labor Inspectorate received 84 complaints last year

A figure that represents six more than the previous year and 12 with respect to 2021

EL PERIÒDIC
ESCALDES - ENGORDANY

Over the course of last year, the Labor Inspection service received a total of 84 complaints that led to action by the inspectors. This is a figure similar to that of previous years, since the total is six more than in 2022; 12 more than in 2021, and seven less than in 2020, according to the Department of Statistics. Where there has been a more significant increase in the years 2023 and 2022 compared to the previous two is in ex officio actions, because although in 2020 there were six and in 2021 four, in 2022 they had risen to 21 and last year it closed with 28.

MORE ACCIDENTS AT WORK THAN LAST YEAR // Inspections resulting from accidents at work were more than fifty last year, specifically 52, which represents 11 less than the previous year. The year in which there were fewer was 2020, 38, but in this case it must be kept in mind that it was a pandemic year and that economic activity dropped considerably. If these three types of inspections are taken into account, we have that in total "Trellat" carried out 164 last year, two more than in 2022; 19 more than in 2021, and 29 more than in 2020. ●
