This is the first issue of a collection specializing in luxury tourism in the Caribbean. Larimar is «a rare blue variety of the silicate mineral pectolite found only in the Dominican Republic.» This is the definition of a gemstone that also gives its name to the first magazine specializing in luxury tourism in the Caribbean, promoted by its president, Enric Dolsa, through which it aims to promote the Caribbean island in Andorra and Spain.

During the day that took place yesterday at Fitur, the most important international tourism fair held annually in Madrid, Dolsa presented the first issue of Larimar Luxury Magazine, published by la Portella real state, in the presence of the ambassador of the Dominican Republic in Spain, Juan Bolívar Díaz, and the Minister of Tourism and Telecommunications of Andorra, Jordi Torres, among other authorities.

Coincidentally, this year the Dominican Republic is the host country in Fitur and has its own pavilion, for which the country's president, Luis Abinader, was also present and a copy could be taken. In addition, Abinader was awarded this Tuesday for his support of the tourism sector, along with other organizations and professionals in the fields of tourism, gastronomy and culture. The Caribbean president also took the opportunity to postulate his island as a safe destination in the face of a key year in which tourism is expected to recover from the coronavirus pandemic.

As for Larimar, in Dolsa's words, it is «more than a luxury magazine. It is the blog that will allow us to embark on a long journey to discover the treasures, secrets and legends of the Caribbean Sea». And the Dominican Republic, with a turquoise paradise to the south and the most imposing Atlantic Ocean to the north, offers a variety of sports, recreational and entertainment options: culture, dance, tobacco, rum, chocolate or larimar, for example, of course, these are just a few examples. The capital is Santo Domingo, although each region has something to offer to all kinds of travelers and budgets. Larimar, however, specializes in the highest level and therefore has a team of Andorran, Spanish and Dominican professionals looking for «the perfect showcase to promote art, fashion and culture, as well as tourism in luxury and the latest trends in the real estate market». In each edition, according to Dolsa in his presentation, readers will find different success stories, narrated by their own protagonists, «excellent personalities in business, politics and society.» Thus, for example, in the first sample of Larimar, the executive director of the Center for Export and Investment of the Dominican Republic, Biviana Riveiro Disla, invites to «know and invest in the jewel of the Caribbean», given that it is at the junction of North, Central and South America.

But if the Dominican Republic is known for anything, it is definitely the perfect honeymoon destination. For this reason, Braulio Segura, wedding planner by profession, or dream producer as he likes to call himself, and another example of triumph who shares his experience in the first edition of Larimar, narrates his adventures on the most extraordinary weddings in a privileged environment, outdoors and with a wide variety of prestigious hotels at your fingertips.

And what about any celebration without music? The Dominicans are clear and are ready to turn their country into a world music benchmark. For the first time, as it could not be otherwise, they only have the best, being the Colombian J Balvin the soul mate of a musical experience that kicked off last December in Punta Cana to start 2022 in which disco nights, pool parties and all-inclusive are guaranteed.

Larimar Luxury Magazine can be found on the PressReader platform in digital version or in the establishments of the Spanish Luxury Federation in paper version.≡

INCOMPATIBILITY

Magallón violates the law by combining two public offices

He is a Liberal general councillor and head of the Sports Department in the capital

According to several lawyers consulted by EL PERIÒDIC, and in accordance with the Qualified Law on the Electoral Regime and the Referendum, the Liberal General Councillor and Head of Sports Area in the Municipality of Andorra la Vella, Marc Magallón, is currently in breach of the law. Article 54 which provides for the incompatibility of charges and, therefore, charging two public salaries - one of just over 1,900 euros per month to the Council and another of more than 4,000 euros per month to the municipality. The fact is that the text makes it clear that «the position of general counsel is incompatible», among others, with any activity of a labor nature that involves a salary consideration from the General Council, the Government or parapublic or public law entities, not having obtained the leave of absence”.

Taking the definition of public entity described in article 13 of the Code of Administration, then, it is observed that the municipalities and quarters constitute the Public Administration, so that “there is no doubt: Magallón violates the current law «. In the words of the legal sources to which this newspaper has had access. In fact, the same sources recall that «there are many precedents of all political colors» who before joining the General Council have resigned their usual job in another public body, such as the Democrat Marc Ballestà, who worked in Andorra Telecom; the Social Democrat Jan Cartes, head of the Culture Department of the Municipality of Andorra la Vella - «exactly the same case as Magallón», experts specify; the progressive Sílvia Bonet, who applied for a leave of absence from the SAAS and stopped working as a nurse at the hospital or, more recently, Carine Montaner, a former professor at the University of Andorra (UdA).

«The question is why the general trustee, Roser Suñé, ignored Magallón’s position in the municipality and why no one has reported it so far,» asks a lawyer, who also acknowledges that when the law was passed, in 1993, the general counsel at the time considered that, “in such a small country, where so many people can work in the administration, we may have been too restrictive, and so we agreed that leave to devote full time to the General Council”.

It should be noted that this unveiling coincides with the controversy that has surrounded the liberal Ferran Costa, president of the parliamentary group, in recent weeks, for the many contracts he receives from the government and parapublic companies. In addition, Costa is a majority shareholder in the company Esports i Organització Advent SL, which has recently benefited from numerous contracts with the municipality of the capital. ≡

The Batllia accepts Montaner’s lawsuit

EL PERIÒDIC

The Administrative Section of the Court of Mayors announced on Tuesday that the lawsuit filed on December 15th by the non-attached general councillor, Carine Montaner, against the Government for the partnership agreement with the pharmaceutical company Grifols, through which a P3 laboratory is planned to be installed in Ordino. Thus, the Executive has 13 working days to answer the lawsuit and to send the complete original file of the contested act. In addition, the filing of the complaint was announced in the BOPA to serve as a location for potential members. It should be noted that Montaner asked the administrative jurisdiction of the Batllia to issue a sentence and declare the «radical and absolute nullity of the right», as stipulated in the Code of Administration «of all contracts or acts relating to the Grifols Project before and after the administrative appeal”, which did not prosper. ≡
